unit 1

Since this is a computer science solution, these names have to be in binary!

unit 1

The solution chosen was to name each Individual light in the pixel separately:

One name for the red light
One name for the green light
One name for the blue light

Since this is a computer science solution, these names have to be in binary!

unit 1

The convenient unit of 1 byte was chosen to name each light. This has the following consequences: